About the Cattle IFS

The Cattle IFS Management Committee manages the scheme and funds levied through it under the Biosecurity and Agriculture Management Act 2007. In conjunction with the cattle industry, the Cattle IFS Management Committee determines which pest and disease threats require action, how best to deal with the threats and what contributions will be needed from industry to tackle the problem. This allows producers to raise funds to self-manage priority pests and diseases that may affect the viability and sustainability of their industry.

The Cattle IFS Management Committee authorises expenditure of scheme funds for activities including:

- The provision of, or the promotion and encouragement of scientific research to improve cattle health and production; or
- Any other purpose that, in the opinion of the Management Committee, will promote support and encourage the WA cattle industry.

The Committee is now inviting expressions of interest for grants to support biosecurity-related research and innovation projects that will benefit the Western Australian cattle industry.

Project Outcomes

Please tell us about the outcomes you expect to result from your project. Outcomes are the changes you expect to occur for the WA cattle industry (direct, indirect and/or intermediaries). Generally, outcomes can be framed as an increase or decrease in one or more of the following:

- Skills, knowledge, confidence, aspiration, motivation (these are generally immediate or short-term outcomes).
- Actions, behaviour, change in policy (these are generally intermediate or medium-term outcomes).
- Social, financial, environmental, physical conditions (these are generally long-term outcomes).

Immediate outcomes occur directly following an activity (e.g. within 1 month); medium-term outcomes are those that fall between the short and long-term outcomes (e.g. between 1 month and 2 years); and long-term outcomes are those we expect to see years later (e.g. 2, 5, 10 or 50 years after the activity).
